Introduction

Anycoin Direct wants to offer a secure and able platform. Anycoin Direct is well aware that to do so it must be reliable and transparent. Anycoin Direct therefore carefully considers the interests of its customers, employees, and society at large and the integrity and image of the cryptocurrency market. This is why Anycoin Direct has appointed an Anti-Money Laundering Officer, a Compliance Officer and a Data Protection Officer, but is also asking you to carefully read the material provided before you start trading in cryptocurrencies. Anycoin Direct therefore pays a lot of attention to its information provision. We advise you to take precautions in order to avoid unnecessary risks and to carefully read the essential information about cryptocurrencies. Investing and trading in cryptocurrencies is new, high-risk and highly speculative; you could lose your entire investment.

Anycoin Direct is a regulated financial services institution under the supervision of the German Federal Financial Supervisory Authority ("BaFin"). Anycoin Direct holds a license for proprietary trading (Section 1 (1a) sentence 2 No. 4 KWG) as well as a license for crypto custody (Section 1 (1a) sentence 2 No. 6 KWG).

Cryptocurrencies are financial instruments in the form of crypto securities within the meaning of Section 1 para. 11 S. 1 No. 10, S. 4 KWG. The acquisition of cryptocurrencies is associated with various risks. You should thoroughly read and consider the risk disclosures prepared by Anycoin Direct before buying or selling cryptocurrencies. Anycoin Direct does not provide investment advice or financial portfolio management services to you, i.e. Anycoin Direct does not make investment recommendations, nor does Anycoin Direct consider whether the purchase or sale of cryptocurrencies is individually suitable for you based on your personal circumstances. There is also no appropriateness check.
